

GENERAL INFORMATION

Thank you for your interest in the Eagle 914 conversion. Please find enclosed literature which should answer many of your questions. Should you require further information, feel free to call, write or visit our factory and design facilities.

The Eagle 914 GTS sports car components have been designed to fit Porsche's 914/916. This concept represents a significant breakthrough in the field of fiberglass component vehicles. The Eagle incorporates sophistication, plus performance by combining the light weight and amazing strength of fiberglass married to the proven 914 Porsche, add the two, resulting in superb road handling capabilities, acceleration and braking areas.

It is a tribute to the intelligence of the design that such grace and style is accomplished with very little effort. The conversion consists of just four main body panels; the rear section which incorporates the rocker panels, two door skins which mount over the Porsche steel doors and a tilt-forward front nose section. Basic assembly is accomplished very quickly once the Porsche fenders, the three deck lids, lamps and bumpers are removed. All the panels are bonded into place with Reids adhesive which is supplied with the kit. Body units come in gray sanding gel coat which is used as a easily prepared surface for paint. With minimal experience, a flawless finish is achieved. Your new lights are then installed into pre-drilled holes. All lamps use the existing Porsche wiring harness. There is no fuss to hunt through auto part stores for parts. All the stock Porsche hinges and latches are utilized and all necessary lights, hardware and bonding supplies are supplied by Eagle.

Eagles are well engineered for performance and rapid assembly. If you've dreamed of owning one of the world's truly exotic automobiles, Eagle offers you the sleek styling of Europe's ultra designs, the proven Porsche name as well as the pride to be the unique individual to next create and own your own achievement.

Eagle also offers various stages of installation or complete factory automobiles with luxurious Recaro interiors and a full warranty. Eagle offers the best of practicality as well as real road eating satisfaction. It's sensation without depreciation.
